THE BRIGANDS OF THE GRIGER.—Under this head the Virginia Enterprise of November 4th, gives the following graphic description of the robbery of the Pioneer stage, lately, and the passengers, from Theodore Hale, one of the victims:

The first intimation he had of what was going to be done was being wakened from a comfortable doze by the order, "Hold up your hands!" when he found the stages were at a stand-still. The door of the coach he was in was opened and the passengers all got out in compliance with orders from the leader of the highwaymen, whom he describes as a medium-sized, stout built man, with a gruff, loud voice like the mate of a Mississippi steamer. One by one as they descended from the coach they were searched for weapons and escorted to where the rest of the passengers were gathered together. He makes out that there were at least seven of these highwaymen, and all dressed about alike—in linen coats, buttoned up, with pistols and knives in their belts and dark colored masks on their faces, reminding "Tac." forcibly of the ferocious brigands he had read of in yellow covered novels. He says they were all armed also with double-barreled shotguns; none of them had Henry rifles, the story to the contrary notwithstanding. The passengers were all very considerately treated, the leader remarking that if they behaved well they would be well treated, but if they undertook to make any resistance, said he, "You'll find us the d—dest roughest set of fellows you ever fell in with." He likewise assured them that their persons and pockets should be respected, as all they were after was Wells, Fargo & Co.'s treasure, which was in the foremost coach. None of the brigands had much of anything to say, the leader doing pretty much all the talking. He was evidently an American and used good language, except when he occasionally tried to disguise it by the use of ungrammatical words and phrases. When the horses, by his orders, were unhitched from the coach and taken out of the way, the passengers were also escorted to a safe distance, "for," said he, "we're going to blow h—l out of that old coach." It took them half an hour to finish their operations on the treasure safe, which, when it blew up, made a terrific report, demolishing the coach sure enough, as it was under the front seat. Having secured the treasure ($5,150), the passengers were now ordered into line, with a brigand at each end, one in the rear and one in front, with guns presented and cocked ready for use, while a fifth proceeded to "go through" the passengers, one after the other, taking their money and watches, each being made to hold up their hands meanwhile. The leader remarked apologetically: "Gentlemen, we don't like to do this; it is not in our line; but the fact of it is, that we haven't made so good a haul of treasure as we expected, and as we have made a night of it, we may as well play our hand out." They merely searched for watches and money in the pockets. One man, however, for some reason or other, they made pull off his boots and disgorge a lot of greenbacks he had concealed therein, amounting, he says, to $1,500. Judge Baldwin disliked very much to give up his watch, which was a valuable gold one, and a present to him. He offered to give $250 for it and arrange it so that the robber would get the money, if he would agree to it. The robber hesitated and remarking, "Well, I'd like to do it, but that ain't business," called to the leader, asking his opinion in the matter. The reply was, "Do as you like." "Ah, well," said he, "I 'spose I'll have to take it." And he took it. The only lady passenger, Miss Crowell, was not molested at all. There was one Chinaman in the line, and when the robber came to him he remarked, "Ah, G—d d—n you, I like to go through your kind," and the Celestial, not unbuttoning his blue overshirt quick enough to suit, the robber drew his knife and ripped the shirt from the throat down. Our poor friend Hale stood next in the line, and this operation rather startled him. In his agitation he dropped one of his gloves; and just as he was stooping to pick it up he received a chuck under the chin, with the order to "stand up and hold up your hands." This not being done quick enough to suit, the order was repeated in a sharp, peremptory tone of voice, and up went Thee's hands particularly quick. He happened to glance over his shoulder just then, and experienced a remarkable sensation as he gazed full into the muzzle of a double-barrelled shotgun held in decidedly unpleasant proximity to his left ear. He swears that each barrel of that gun was bigger than a stovepipe, and he could see over a peck of shot in each one. The fellow who held it, too, was about twenty feet high and the most ferocious man in the world. He never felt more docile in his life than at that particular period. He brags, however, that he didn't lose much, as his watch was of little value and he had only four or five dollars in his pocket, borrowed at that.

JOSEPH E. DAVIS' PROPERTY TO BE RESTORED TO HIM.—The President having, under date of March 28th, 1866, granted a pardon to Joseph E. Davis, the brother of Jefferson Davis, Major Gen. Howard has ordered that possession of his property be given him at the expiration of the present lease thereof, January 1st proximo. Such portion of the rents of the property as accrue after the date of the pardon, will be paid to him, amounting to about $20,000. Various incorrect statements have been made in regard to this matter but these are the facts.

SECRETARY SEWARD.—In a letter to the New York Tribune, George W. Blunt gives in detail the particulars of the attempt to provision Fort Sumter at the beginning of the war, showing that Seward was in favor of the surrender of the Fort, and that he so acted in sending the Powhattan to relieve Fort Pickens as to compel its surrender, and that President Lincoln was to the last in favor of provisioning and holding the fort. Since then Seward has been ready to surrender not only a fort, but the whole country to the rebels.

A RELIGIOUS CONTROVERSY IN BELGIUM.—A bitter controversy is going on in Belgium caused by religious dissensions. In consequence of the appearance of the cholera M. Piercot, Burgomaster of Liege, considered himself called on to interdict the procession of the Assumption in that town. Thereupon the clerical journals expressed great indignation, and one of them declared that an open and energetic resistance ought to be organized and that no attention whatever should be paid to the interdiction. The other papers replied and angry articles are appearing on both sides.

The music-mad King of Bavaria is at his old pranks again. The wheels of government are frequently stopped until his Ministers can discover where he has rambled off to. The citizens of Munich regard his eccentricities with the same kind of anxiety that a nurse might watch the movements of a two-year-old child; the people have a stereotyped phrase which is common as the weather? "Has His Majesty gone on another flirt (ausflug?)"

General Sheridan orders Colonel Mason, commanding United States forces at Brenham, Texas, not to allow himself or any of his command to be arrested by the State authorities for alleged offences. The soldiers are accused of having fired the town, but the accusation is said to be false and malignant.

Elisha C. Sprague, of Chicago, has had an action commenced against him for breach of promise by a Cincinnati lady. Sprague is worth $500,000, and $50,000 damages are claimed. The lady has been for six years a teacher in a Newport Seminary.

BLOWN UP.—One wagon of a train loaded with powder, belonging to Joseph Favore, and driven by one Doolittle, lately blew up on Rock Creek, Utah Territory. The driver was blown into atoms, and three of the five oxen torn into shreds.

Major Gee, the former rebel commandant of Salisbury prison, where so many of our soldiers were starved to death, is to be the recipient of a handsome testimonial in the shape of a purse of $5,000, presented by his rebel admirers.

PAPER MILLS.—In the United States there are 750 paper mills in active operation. They produce 270,000,000 pounds of paper, which, at an average of ten cents per pound, would be worth $27,000,000.

SICK REBELS.—George Barton, just arrived at Galveston from Cordova, Mexico, informs the News that General Price was sick when he left, and that both Price and Shelby would be glad to get back if they could return safely.

WILKES ON JOHNSON.—Wilkes' Spirit of October 13th has an article on the President's course, of which the following is the conclusion:

Again, it may be objected that the indictment and expulsion of a President would be a great scandal to the United States before the world, but let us ask if it would not be greater scandal and a greater reproach to our sense of independence to endure the administration of a man who has committed crimes which require that he should be expelled, and who is in our hands to punish? But it is a mistake to suppose that it would be a scandal to inflict this justice upon such a criminal as Andrew Johnson. It would, on the contrary, be the crowning glory of our institutions to depose him by the quiet process of the law. It has constantly been said, by those who are envious of our democratic forms, that the republican system of government would not endure; that it could not stand the strain of party spirit; and that it had not enough of rugged power to master an extended civil conflict; but we have seen it defy the varied tempests of a century; we have seen it grapple successfully with foreign wars; we have seen it suppress a monster insurrection by sheer force of arms; we have seen it trample out a mighty party with every sign of indignation, because it became recreant to democratic principles; and having seen all this, we have beheld the nation endure the murder of a well-beloved President without any derangement beyond that perturbation which belongs to grief. There is but one more proof for us to give, and that is to take an unworthy Chief Magistrate by the collar, and after giving him a hearing, to turn him ignominiously out of office, as if he were a mere sergeant-at-arms, or book-keeper, or the meanest culprit in the State. This would be a full answer to all aristocratic sneers at republican vitality, and it would make the whole world know, even to its remotest corners, that the people of this country reign supreme, and constantly legislate for themselves on every measure worthy of general consideration. It would be the most sublime evidence of the capacity of the people for selfgovernment ever given to man; and as such, tuitions throughout Europe than all other influences a proof, it would do more to establish popular institutions that have transpired for the last hundred years. The whole effect of such a trial would be entirely wholesome; while the idea that the person put on trial would be able to organize a resistance to the authority of Congress, and put this government to a new trial of its strength as against himself, is simple nonsense. On the contrary, the people are expressing a direct demand in the pending elections that Andrew Johnson shall be impeached and tried; and when he is tried and turned adrift there will be none to sorrow for him—none so poor to do him reverence.

BREECH-LOADERS.—Austria has signified her adoption of an American arm—the new Remington breech-loader—and "all the resources of public and private works are to be employed in its manufacture." The Belgian Minister of War has also applied for permission to manufacture under the Remington patent, while England and France have ordered additional samples with which to complete their trials of the same.

The invention mainly consists in the application of a swinging breech-piece, pierced by a firing-line, to a barrel bored "through and through," and acting in combination with a tumbler attached to the hammer, so that the curved edges of the tumbler and the breech will interlock to brace against the recoil. This gun has shown greater rapidity of fire than any other, exceeding even sixteen shots per minute; and it claims superiority in the additional requisites of accuracy, extent of range, portability, durability, simplicity for purpose of cleaning and repair, safety and convenience of handling in action, and cheapness of construction. While this is likely to be the standard pattern for new guns, there is a desire on the part of our Government to avoid for a time the expense of an entire new piece by altering to breech-loaders the Springfield rifles now on hand. The Remington plan for this purpose is also before the public.

HE CLEARED FIVE DOLLARS.—A queer genius lately appeared before Justice Cuthbertson, at Chicago, accused himself of assault and battery, and demanded to be arrested and fined; the Judge finally accommodating him by fining him five dollars. The joke of the affair has not yet been told, however, that the repentant criminal paid a ten-dollar bill, which the clerk changed, giving him five dollars in good money, to find after he was gone, that the ten-dollar bill was a counterfeit, and that the conscientious man had cleared five dollars.

Ex-Governor John B. Weller is employed as counsel in the investigation of the Robinson tragedy before the Coroner of Salt Lake City.

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 15, 1866.

The Island of Crete.

One of the most interesting of all the places whose ancient fame has come down to us, has of late again become an object of interest to the world. The insurrection in Candia, an island known to the earliest writers by the name of Crete, and the heroic struggle of a few thousand Christians against the domination of Islamism backed up by the power of Turkey, are events which have awakened profound interest throughout all Christendom. The revolutionists are few in number—not exceeding, it is said, twenty thousand men,—yet this handful have thus far been able to resist all the power that has been brought to crush them. Christian nations may yet take up their cause as they took up the cause of Greece in 1827, and deliver them from Moslem dominion and oppression.

The Island of Crete is celebrated in ancient history and renowned in ancient song. It holds a conspicuous place in the story of Homer, in which it is related that its king Idomeneus led a large force with Agamemnon and the other Grecian chiefs, to the siege of Troy. The glories of the reign of Minos are also celebrated in the same epic song. In this island was the famous labyrinth which was constructed by the art of Daedalus, and through which no mortal could find a way. In Crete was also situated the Mount Ida of which the old poets sung. The island is about 160 miles in length and 50 in breadth at its widest part. Prior to its conquest by the Romans (67, B. C.) it was independent of all other powers, and on one occasion it even made war on Athens and compelled that city to pay it tribute for many years. After the downfall of the Roman Empire, Crete was taken by the Saracens. When Venice became powerful she obtained possession of the island and retained it till the middle of the 17th century, when it was conquered from her by the Turks. That power has since steadily held it against all attacks. In the earliest times the Cretans had a high character for courage, though they were then celebrated for their skill in the arts of deception. In those times Crete was known as "the land of liars." When Ulysses was on his return from Troy, he always represented himself as a Cretan, and, having made this announcement he went on inventing stories of all kinds about himself, and relating them merely for the pleasure of telling clever falsehoods. All remember the severe words of St. Paul: "The Cretans are always liars," &c. But the world will also remember that it was long ago when this censure was passed. The inhabitants of Crete have revolted from heathenism and are striking against oppression, and as there is a promise of help from England and France that island may be redeemed from the degradation of a semi-barbarism.

The Modern Idea of Reconciliation.

The following is from the "United States official paper for Oregon:"

Not one single act has been done, and not one single word has been spoken by or on the part of Congress tending to reconcile the people of the South. The President, on the question of reconstruction (as it is called), has adopted and advocated plans to reconcile and unite our whole country in friendship.

We quote this because it gives in a nutshell the whole "conservative" idea of the present political situation. When it is said that Congress has done nothing to reconcile the people of the South, it is precisely equivalent to saying that the South is the injured party, and that reparation is due to the people of the Southern States from the people of the North for the wrongs which the former have unjustly suffered at the hands of the latter. It is an acknowledgment that the South has been foully dealt with by the North, that her present state of sullen exasperation is a natural consequence of the unjustifiable treatment she has received, that the North ought at once to do something to atone for the wrong, and to appease this righteous anger. "Nothing has been done by Congress to reconcile the South"—that is to say, the representatives of the Northern people have not confessed that they were in the wrong in waging the war against traitors, nor have they asked forgiveness for having compelled traitors to submit to the laws. Therein they differ from the "conservatives"—those who deserted from the Union party—whose greatest anxiety seems to be to show that they are heartily ashamed of having ever been members of the party which [illegible] the war and quelled the rebellion. This sort of conservatism is profuse in apologies for what it has done against the South, and seems to be intensely anxious to make all possible amends therefor. The Union party, in the opinion of these apologists, is very blamable for not confessing its fault and making advances toward a reconciliation. "Conservatism" is decidedly of opinion that the South, like King Lear, is more sinned against than sinning.

Nor is the idea that the President's policy would have united the country in the bonds of lasting peace and friendship, much more fortunate. That policy would have "reconciled" the South; but it was not quite so acceptable to the North. That it was not calculated "to reconcile and unite the whole country in friendship," the late elections, it may be affirmed, afford some indication. The policy that will suit the North cannot, in the nature of things, quite please the South; but the South must take it nevertheless. As both parties cannot be entirely satisfied in the settlement of the question, it will be quite as well to insist upon such conditions as will satisfy the demands of the loyal majority, and leave to the minority the option of conforming to them or of rebelling again.

At a mass meeting in New York in September, Governor Parsons, of Alabama, made a speech. Governor Parsons had heard it charged that the South would not permit free speech. Governor Parsons took occasion to deny that charge. Said Governor Parsons, as a clincher to his denial, "I will guarantee, if the President will visit us, he can have a hearing." We do not have the remotest doubt of Governor Parson's word; but had it been proposed that Thad. Stevens should visit the Alabamians, would Governor Parsons have extended the same guarantee to him? It strikes us that Governor Parson's assurance is much like the old saw, "The Dutch have taken Holland."

The Copperheads have delighted themselves in calling Congress a "Rump," "an unlawful assemblage," etc., and Johnson, himself has been pleased to term it "an illegal and unlawful assembly," an excrescence "hanging on the verge of the Government." If that be true, has not Johnson violated his oath quite a number of times, by recognizing Congress as a lawful department of the Government? Did not Johnson act in a "revolutionary" manner whenever he sent a message to "an illegal and unlawful assembly," recommending it to adopt such and such measures as the law of the land? Will the hired man of the Herald favor us with his views on this subject?

At a Democratic procession in Baltimore transparencies displayed the following diabolical joking: "We are in favor of negro suffrage—the way they suffered in New Orleans." A coffin was carried, and labelled "John L. Thomas' and Thad. Stevens' overcoat."

A stranger in Washington saw President Johnson and Postmaster General Randall walking near the White House. Not knowing either of them, but supposing them to be high officials, he asked a bystander who they were. "What, those two? Oh! they are the tailor and his goose."

FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

The following items are from an Olympia correspondent under date of Nov. 11th:

Another rumor, about the eleventh within the last year and a half, has been industriously circulated of late, to the effect that Gov. Pickering has been removed and a noted Copperjohnson appointed in his place. This is untrue. The Copperjohnsons have undoubtedly concentrated all their forces to accomplish this one object, but as yet without avail.

The little item in the OREGONIAN recently, noticing the approval of the wise men at Salem, to the proposition of forming a State of those portions of Oregon and Washington Territory lying west of the Cascade mountains, meets with a general feeling of opposition and disgust, believing that while it advanced the interests of the Willamette Valley, it would be detrimental to those of Puget Sound.

Nineteen Copperjohnsons met in solemn conclave yesterday, in this precinct, to send sixteen of their number to the convention which nominates their candidate for Councilman. Among the most prominent of these, was P. D. Moore, Esq., Internal Revenue Collector, whose apostasy to the Union cause is of recent date. About the time of the return of Secretary Poe from Washington City, some few weeks since, circulars from the administration (without postage marks) were received by all Federal officials, demanding aid and comfort in support of "my policy," soon after which prominent Copperheads boasted of the accession of "P. D." to their ranks. Whether this singular fact, or the prospect of a Copperjohnson Delegateship, had any effect upon Mr. Moore's politics, probably we never shall know. He has always been considered a radical Abolitionist, and that he should now support the Philadelphia Johnson Convention makes it the more strange. If he wishes to politically damn himself forever, he has taken the right course; for the Union party will never receive him back with confidence, or his own friends trust him in a prominent position. The aspect of his somersault reminds me of Hudibras' monkey.

The following items are from the Tribune of Nov. 10th:

The following is the list of officers elected by the Good Templars, and installed on Friday evening, Nov. 2, for the quarter commencing on that evening: E. Giddings, W. C. T.; Mrs. Ellen L. Hewitt, W. V. T.; C. A. Huntington, W. S.; Richard Lane, W. A. S.; J. Littlejohn, F. S.; Miss Helen Elder, T.; W. C. Jacob Summers, W. M.; Miss Eliza Gidding, D. M.; Mrs. Barnes, R. H. S.; Miss Fannie Yantis, L. H. S.; A. Robb, W. I. G.; James Mix, W. O. G. The former installation was only a fractional term, as the quarter commences on the first Friday of February, May, August and November. The lodge is in a flourishing condition and doing a good work.

The District Court for this District, convenes in this place on Monday next. The docket is exceedingly small. The prospect is that the business on hand will detain the Court but a short time. The prostration of business encourages but little litigation.

We observe that Messrs. Evans & McElroy, Territorial printers, have received their supply of material for next winter's printing. They mean to make a good thing of it while it lasts.

A correspondent give the following as two big days' works at the Seabeck Mills: On the 26th of Oct., there was sawed by one circular saw, and edger, 168 white pine logs into inch, and inch and a quarter boards, the last piece left, a three inch plank. On the 27th, there was sawed by one circular saw, and edger, 348 fir logs (average length, 28 feet), into square timber, the side boards and plank also edged.

CALIFORNIA STATE ITEMS.

The Shasta post-office is now a money order office.

The telegraphic monopoly, by which the Union, Bulletin and Alta had exclusive control of the Eastern dispatches, ceased on the 4th.

The real estate in Solano county owned by the United States Government, and all the improvements thereon, have been appraised at $3,019,350.

The Central Pacific Railroad is now laid to Emigrant Gap, a distance of fifteen miles from Alta and a point 5,000 feet above the level of the sea, and to within nineteen miles of the summit.

Typhoid fever seems to be quite prevalent in Yreka, and some of those afflicted with it have been dangerously ill for some time. It affects both old and young.

A telegram to the Union, dated San Francisco, Nov. 4th, says:

D. O. McCarthy, L. P. McCarthy, Billy Casey, Michael Fennell, J. H. Saunders and C. B. McDonald, were all indicted yesterday by the Grand Jury for libel on Ralston of the Bank of California, and the first three were arrested last evening. They were liberated on bail—Dr. Rowell, Judge Tyler and Wm. Huffner becoming bondsmen. The others will be arrested to-morrow. The Sheriff has possession of the business office of the Flag under an attachment for a trifling amount of rent due, but the concern is getting out a paper for to-morrow. The attacks on the Bank of California created a slight feeling of uneasiness yesterday, and caused the withdrawal of some deposits, but did not produce anything like a panic or a run.

STATE ITEMS.

The mail route from Salem to Lafayette via Valfontis, has been discontinued.

A revival which is exciting considerable interest is in progress at Salem.

The ladies of Salem, connected with the M. E. Church, are to give a Centenary festival, Friday evening, Nov. 16, at the Legislative Hall.

The Douglas County Teachers' Association had an adjourned meeting on the 3d inst. The next regular meeting will be held on the first Saturday in December.

Some person unknown, fired two shots into a saloon at Lafayette, last Friday evening, with the evident intention of assassinating some one within. Nobody was hurt.

Herman Ehrenberg, who was recently assassinated in Arizona, was an emigrant to Oregon in 1844. He was a Prussian by birth, and a gentleman of fine scientific attainments.

Wm. K. Carter, of Warrenton, Warren county, Missouri, requests all newspapers of this coast to say that he is anxious to learn the whereabouts of David Carter who left his house in Missouri some thirty years ago.

The Unionist says yesterday morning the services at the M. E. Church, in this place were devoted to Centenary purposes. That church in the United States is making the hundredth anniversary of its existence in America a general church jubilee, also the occasion for raising means to assist its literary institutions. The means raised in Oregon, will in a great part go to aid the Willamet University. A handsome collection was taken up and the sum of $1,340 was also subscribed.

The following persons have been appointed Postmasters in Oregon: Nathaniel Martin, Cottage Grove, Lane county; Samuel H. Claughton, Lebanon, Linn county; Wm. E. Woodcock, Starr's Point, Benton county; Robt. Hanna, Belpassi, Marion County; Lewis Knapp, Port Orford, Curry county; B. F. Giltner, St. Helens, Columbia county; J. S. Fitzhugh, Roseburg, Douglas county; W. G. Pickett, Liberty, Benton county. The Postoffice at Mohawk, Lane county, has been discontinued.

THOSE WHO OVER-TAX THE VOICE IN SINGING or Public Speaking will find "Brown's Bronchial Troches" exceedingly useful, enabling them to endure more than ordinary exertion, with comparative ease, while they render articulation clear. For Throat Diseases and Coughs the Troches are of service.

NEVADA.—This little State has done her duty. She follows in the wake of Oregon and California; and the three Pacific States stand firmly together in Congress for the country. The Union majority is not so large in the Silver State as it was in 1864; but it exceeds one thousand and is large enough for all practical purposes. The State government is Union, the Legislature is Union, and and a Union man, in all probability James W. Nye, will go to the Senate of the United States. The new State officers elected are:

"Governor, H. G. Blaisdel; Lieutenant Governor, Jas. S. Slingerland; Congressman, D. R. Ashley; Supreme Judge, J. F. Lewis; Clerk Supreme Court, A. Helm; Attorney General, R. M. Clarke; Secretary of State, C. N. Noteware; State Treasurer, E. Rhodes. State Controller, W. K. Parkinson; Superintendent of Public Schools, Rev. A. N. Fisher; Surveyor General, S. H. Marlette; State Printer, J. E. Eckley.

"TAKE NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP, all you who are troubled with coughs, colds, asthma, whooping cough, or any pulmonary difficulty." Delay not to heed this injunction. A timely use of this remedy will save many precious lives.

GET THE BEST.—ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL, 89 First Street, furnish the very best PHOTOGRAPHS, SUN PEARLS, and every other kind of PICTURE know to the art. It is believed that the ancient Druids understood something of fine arts, but it has remained for this establishment to show its real beauties, in fixing the features of the human face. It is not necessary to wait for a clear day.

What Experienced Mill Men think of the Portable Steam Saw Mills built by the Oregon Iron Works:
PORTLAND, Oct 18th, 1866.

Gentlemen:—The Portable Steam Saw Mill which we purchased of you last spring for Pen d'Oreille Lake has been in operation during the past season and has more than met our expectations in its performance With three men, we turn out from three to four thousand feet, and with five men, five thousand feet per day of ten hours; and we take pleasure in recommending these mills as the most SUBSTANTIAL, DESIRABLE AND PERFECT MILLS IN USE, and especially adapted to the wants of this country, on account of their compact form ease of transportation and the facility with which they can be set up and put in operation Although subjected to the most severe tests no repairs have been required

Jeff Davis

The Christian patriot statesman and soldier who led the revolt of our Southern brethren against the hideous rule of Lincoln and the abolitionists has been shamefully treated by Andrew Johnson Let facts speak to a candid world After the noble and high toned Lee had been overwhelmed not whipped, by Grant's hordes of Dutch and Irish, and President Davis had become a fugitive in the forests of the land for which he had so chivalrously toiled, Johnson a boorish tailor from Tennessee whose acquaintance was disclaimed by all true Southern gentlemen, and who was therefore deemed worthy to rule the Yankee nation, issued a proclamation charging the glorious chief with complicity in the assassination of Lincoln and offering a large reward for the arrest of the accused The unfortunate patriot, while trying to make his way through the wilds of Georgia was hunted down and captured by a party of Yankee cavalry, whose mercenary souls were stimulated by the President's bounty separated from the wife and children so dear to his heart and shut up in a loathsome cell at Fortress Monroe Not content with branding President Davis as an assassin, Johnson heaped indignities upon him The brutal Wilson and the tyrannical Stanton were allowed to circulate a ridiculous story that the lion hearted Chief of the South had been caught while disguised as a woman One General Miles who is destined to share the infamous memory of Sir Hudson Lowe, was appointed jailer, with instructions to keep the prisoner under constant surveillance, day and night. Even books and the means of correspondence were denied The food furnished was such as President Davis, in his delicate state of health, could not eat. Meanwhile, charges of treason and connivance at the murder of Yankee prisoners at Andersonville and Salisbury were added to the charge of complicity in the murder of Lincoln, and thus, while unable to vindicate himself or to give his friends the means of vindicating him, the leader of a glorious struggle for Southern independence was held up before the world as a monster stained with the darkest crimes and beyond the pale of human sympathy. And for fifteen months, notwithstanding the South has been amused by Andrew Johnson's professions of a change of heart, sustained, it must be admitted, by a number of commendable acts, and especially by a manful resistance to the base designs of the Northern radicals, the President has been in close confinement All requests for trial or release on parole have been denied, and yet the infamous accusations preferred by Johnson have not been withdrawn The branding proclamation, signed by Andrew Johnson, remains upon the record, and must render its impenitent author forever odious in the estimation of all true sons of the South. Why, even the radicals are willing to give the prisoner a hearing. Their leaders have demanded, with reason, that he should be either brought to trial or released from custody But Johnson, the professed friend and champion of Southern right, persists in keeping the accused in Fortress Monroe, in spite of the medical opinion that he needs a change of climate to insure the complete restoration of his shattered health.

The telegraph informs us that the absurd and indefensible restrictions upon the liberty of President Davis have at length been relaxed. General Burton, who knows and loves the South, is certainly an improvement upon the Yankee Miles The guards have been removed and the illustrious chief can go and come at his will, enjoy the intimacy of his family unwatched by the eye of a vulgar sentinel, choose his own books, correspond with whom he pleases, and obtain such diet as suits his delicate palate and fastidious digestion This is very well, as far as it goes; but Andrew Johnson is much mistaken if he supposes these trifling concessions to the wishes of an outraged people will suffice to atone for the past and exalt him in the affections of the Southern heart While Jefferson Davis is a prisoner and charged with the worst offenses in the catalogue of crime, every Confederate suffers in sympathy with him and feels indignant under insulting imputations If he is a traitor, the Southern millions are also guilty of treason, and this they never will admit Johnson knows the prisoner never saw Booth or Surratt, and had no knowledge of the conspiracy to murder the tyrant Lincoln He knows that if Yankees died by the thousand at Andersonville and Salisbury, it was their own fault, for they had no business in the South, and they knew the Confederate Government couldn't afford to feed the desolators of Southern homes Therefore, in order to induce the Confederates to overlook the past and give him a high place among their friends, the President of the Yankee nation is expected to add the following proofs of his conversion from the Tennessean error of his ways Jefferson Davis must be released upon parole His property must be wrested from the odious Freedmen's Bureau and restored to him, with such negroes as he may choose to contract for and hold under the wise provisions of the law in Mississippi The charge of assassination must be formally retracted, the wretches who furnished the alleged evidence must be arrested and punished, and Stanton and Holt must be brought to trial for their crimes The indictment for treason must be quashed, or else a jury must be impanneled that will be certain to render a verdict justifying the "lost cause," Jefferson Davis will then be elected United States Senator by the Legislature of Mississippi in the place of one of the present Senators who are without seats, and Johnson must make the admission of the Confederate Chief to his old seat, which was so magnanimously vacated at the call of Southern people, a constitutional issue with Congress This can be done, because the Constitution expressly says the Senate shall consist of two Senators from each State. It may be that Davis would prefer to assume the portfolio of the War Department, which would suit the Confederates still better These are the demands of the South in relation to the distinguished prisoner at Fortress Monroe. When Andrew Johnson has complied with them he will be acknowledged as worthy to enjoy the esteem and confidence of Southern gentlemen, and the execration of every Yankee, which is sure to follow, will only confirm his title to remembrance in association with the glorious triumvirate—Davis, Forrest and Lee —Sacramento Union

Tom Benton's Advice —A representative, in his maiden speech on the floor of Congress, in reply to an opponent, by his telling hits, witty speeches and puns, kept the House in a roar of laughter for at least half an hour, closing amid quite a demonstration of approbation, and, as he thought, with great success What was his astonishment, after having received the congratulations of several friends at the close of the day's proceedings, to be greeted by Mr. Benton, who, taking him aside, said

"Sir, I heard your speech. I have been here many years This is your first season. Will you permit me to give you a bit of advice?"

"Certainly, sir," was the reply, "I shall feel honored by your courtesy."

"Well, sir," said Mr. Benton, "your speech was exceedingly brilliant; it sparkled with wit, it was funny, they laughed most heartily at it, but never do such a thing again, if you wish to advance as a statesman or politician "

"What!" said the astonished debutant, "never make a speech?"

"No, sir, not that, but don't make people laugh."

"Not make people laugh, Mr. Benton! why it takes some genius to make a witty speech."

"True, sir, but the public has a poor appreciation of genius, you must gain a reputation for wisdom, not wit—you can gain a reputation for wisdom in Congress by not speaking a word during the session "

"A reputation for wisdom!"

"Certainly sit still and look wise; Mankind is prone to reverence the solemn ass"

There was a deal of truth in old Tom's assertion.

The Methodist Church in this country is just one hundred years of age. It commenced business over an obscure grocery store in October, 1766, in the city of New York. The official census now places it numerically far in advance of and other American religious body, and the general religious statistics of the country show that it comprises nearly one half of all our Protestant communicants The different bodies of the Methodist Church comprise about 2,000,000 communicants, 15,000 local and 14 000 traveling preachers, 200 colleges and academies with 32,000 students publishing institutions with an aggregate capital of about $1 000,000—the one in New York having on its catalogue more than 300 books and 900 tracts besides 2 200 Sunday school volumes and scattering more than 1,000 000 copies of the latter annually and 300 000 copies of Sunday-school periodicals monthly

Re Appearance of the Cholera in Europe —The cholera has reappeared on the French and Italian seaboards, at Marseilles, Nice, Genoa and Naples In Marseilles an alarming increase of cases has taken place more than 60 deaths occurring daily, scattered over the whole city, without distinction of districts Toulon had escaped but at Nice the disease has pronounced itself with unusual violence In the centre of one of the finest quarters in that town eleven persons were attacked simultaneously in one house, six of whom died The panic at Marseilles impels a strong tide of emigration southward along the Riviera carrying infection with it At the Italian frontier a mile or two south of Mentone the administration has established a lazaretto or purification in imagination and disaffection Travelers are taken into a room in which they are made to inhale sulphurous fumes

The Arrest of Dr Ferris

A late telegram announced the kidnapping of Dr Ferris from the steamer General Buell at Warsaw, Ky, by rebel guerrillas The following from the Cincinnati Times gives the full particulars

An outrage occurred last night on the mail boat General Buell which reminds us of three years since, when rebel bands were prowling through Kentucky in defiance of the efforts of the General Government to restore order to that distracted State

During the time General Burbridge remained in Kentucky Dr Ferris was Provost Marshal at Warsaw Kentucky and under his administration two or three guerrillas were killed during a pursuit and now that the rebels feel they have the President with them they are determined to be avenged Accordingly the grand jury at Warsaw have found a bill of indictment against Dr Ferris for murder in the first degree and knowing that the doctor was mail agent on the General Buell some guerrillas, under cover of the indictment determined to wreak their vengeance upon him for having done his duty while a soldier of the Union

The Buell arrived at Ghent at 7½ o clock last night, and as soon as it reached the shore three men jumped on board and seized Dr Ferris, who was attending to the mails, and conveyed him to the shore, Capt Ward was then on the hurricane deck and on hearing the prisoner's screams ran down, but before he reached the landing the mate, Mr Noble and a lot of men, had rescued the prisoner and taken him on board again. When the party went out there was a man on each side of the Doctor with a pistol at his head while another walked behind him similarly armed Mr Noble demanded if they had a writ, but they refused to answer, and there is no doubt but it was the intention to take the Doctor out and assassinate him at once. The boat then started up the river, and the men mounted their horses and left and arrived at Warsaw in time to arouse the sleeping rebels of the town before the boat came up On the arrival of the Buell at least 200 guerrillas hailed the boat and tied her to the landing when they went on board and took the Doctor off, since which time nothing has been heard of him

The names of the guerrillas killed by the party under Dr Ferris were Morrow and Baker There were some three hundred persons at Ghent Some flourished knives and others cursed and swore at the boat Some of them came on board with the sheriff, but as six soldiers and a lieutenant were on board the lieutenant put them off, telling them that this was a United States marine boat, and not to be stopped by any of their civil authorities, and the soldiers would have been called on to protect and rescue Dr Ferris had he not given himself up in his alarm, and the captain thinking it better he should, though now fears are entertained that he may not live to see another day

When he surrendered himself and mounted a table and stated that he would go if they took him before a judge, but would not surrender to a mob The doctor was not known at first as being on the boat, and had he chosen to do so, he could have left at the stations below The wind was blowing strongly when she laid at Warsaw, and she could not leave the wharf till the Rebecca pulled her out

A Louisville dispatch to the Enquirer, September 23, says Dr Ferris, mail agent on the steamer General Buell, arrived here yesterday and was delivered to the United States Court on the charge of murder

A Card from "Admiral" Semmes —The following "card" appears in the editorial columns of the Mobile Gazette, of which "Admiral" Semmes is editor:

Admiral Semmes has read, with the care and attention which it demands, the article in the Mobile Tribune of September 23d, calling upon him to resign his office of Judge of Probate of this county No man can regret more than himself that any portion of his fellow citizens should suffer inconvenience and loss from the closing of his Court by military authority, but he takes a very different view from the Tribune of what becomes him as a citizen of Alabama. He has been chosen to the office by the people. He is eligible to that office under the Constitution and laws of the United States, as well as of the State of Alabama He has been commissioned by the Governor, and formally inducted into office by filing his official bond and taking the oaths required by law He is ready and willing to perform the duties of his office, and if he is obstructed in their performance, it is no fault of his Can any citizen of Alabama with these facts before him call upon Admiral Semmes to resign, without feeling himself inwardly rebuked, for a want of that manly State pride which, above all things else, should characterize the true citizen? Have the citizens of Alabama fallen so low that they are willing to sacrifice their constitutional rights and the honor of their State for any temporary advantage whatever? Admiral Semmes, for one, will never consent to such a sacrifice Armed authority may trample his body into dust, but he has never yet parted with his honor, and he never will In the attitude which his case has assumed before the public, he regards himself as the humble representative of the honor and dignity of his State, and that State shall not be outraged and dishonored through him He will not become the willing instrument of her debasement If he is kept out of his office by military force in time of peace, the remedy does not rest with him, unless he would dishonor himself Let those eloquent appeals which the Tribune has addressed to him be addressed to the President of the United States. Whatever might be their effect, they would at least be more manly and more in consonance with the character of a citizen of a State which claims the right of selfgovernment, subject only to the Constitution of the United States If there are large estates to deceased citizens unsettled, if widows and orphans are suffering, if our people, generally, are groaning under this oppression, Admiral Semmes is not the oppressor

He will however, do the President the justice to say that he does not believe that the closing of his Court was his own spontaneous act He believes it was the result of party trick and management, concerted here in Mobile He knows that the President was approached on the subject before the election, and that upon the receipt of the result of this interview in this city an attempt was made by the opposite party to induce him to withdraw from the canvass He believes, moreover, that General Woods was prompted to telegraph to General Thomas, with the view of inviting interference after the election, and he has no doubt interference induced the President to act He is the more confirmed in his belief by the kind ly expressions which had been used toward him personally by the President up to the present period

A principle is involved in the resignation of his office and Admiral Semmes feels that such resignation would affect the honor, not only of himself, but of all his fellow citizens and of his proud, suffering State, and he will never consent that those people to whom he owes so many favors shall be humiliated by any act of his, nor that Alabama, whose name he strove to make revered and honored as a household word among the nations of the earth, shall blush to see her son debase it now

In conclusion, then, the Admiral takes this occasion to say to the Tribune, and to those who have prompted this article, once for all, that he has no intention whatever of resigning the trust which his fellow citizens have confided to him.

THE NEW LIGHT!
DANFORD'S
Atmospheric Coal Oil Gas Lamp!

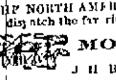

ARTIFICIAL LIGHT OF SOME SORT IS A UNIversal necessity A Safe Cheap and Brilliant one is a Luxury—a luxury only enjoyed hereto by those who live in large cities where Gas is used Years of study and no expense have been exhausted in experiments to produce a lamp where in the ordinary Kerosene or Coal Oil could be used with a chimney and with the lamp safe while in use That fruitful source of expense the breakage of chimneys is avoided in DANFORD'S COAL OIL GAS LAMP, a chimney is not used at all. It is the most perfect Lamp and will entirely supersede all other Coal Oil Lamps. It cannot be upset and It gives a light that can be used with the light of an ordinary six foot Gas burner for less than ½ cent per hour for double the quantity of light of a ordinary Chimney lamp, five or third the cost It will burn when turned to a taper light ten hours for a cent A free from smoke can be carried from room to room and the wind will not blow it out These LAMPS will be on exhibit and for sale at the Music and Art Gallery of Shanahan & Dufresne corner of Morrison and First streets
